KENTUCKY'S ELECTION.

A Lull in the Situation May Be Followed by Important Moves.

Frankfort Ky., Nov. 26 Sunday brought a lull in the political situation to all appearances. There were no significant developments from Goebel headquarters, though Goebel and his managers remained in conference during the day. There is a general impression outside that some important move is to be made by the Goebel side early this week and it is generally supposed that a mandatory injunction suited to prevent the state election board from counting the vote of Jefferson, Knox and Johnson counties, will be part of it though this is not confirmed by any authority. It is doubtful if Gov. Bradley would recognize Goebel as governor if given a certificate of election by the state election board unless its action was in obedience to the ruling of the court in that event it is believed that he would resist no further but would advise Taylor to test before the legislature. Neither Bradley Taylor nor any of the Republican leaders, however, believe that the court of appeals in the face of the decision in the Nelson county case yesterday will grant an injunction and are today more confident than ever that the state election board will give Taylor a certificate of election in Taylor circles it is claimed that two of the three state commissioners are sure to vote to stand by the rule in every county as it appears on the face of the returns.

FALL RIVER IS PROSPEROUS.

All but Seven of the Thirty-Eight Corporations Have Paid Dividends in Past Few Months.

Fall River, Mass., Nov. 26 The firm of G. M. Hafford & Co., bankers and brokers of this city, will publish the regular quarterly list of dividends of 38 Fall River corporations Monday morning. On the whole it shows a very prosperous condition of affairs during the past few months, all but seven corporations having divided profits with shareholders in that time. Of these seven, one passed its dividend because the earnings were diverted toward a large addition to its producing capacity, three because they have only recently been placed on a paying basis and two for the reason that they are private corporations and do not make public their earnings. The Pocasset mill will not declare a dividend until Dec. 1.

Such Was the Fighting at Gras Pan.

Casualties From Gen. Methuen's Advance Probably Heavy.

Situation in Natal--Latest News From Seat of War.

London, Nov. 27--6 A. M. No further news respecting Lord Methuen's advance has been received, and the absence of official details regarding his losses creates the greatest suspense, especially since the publication of the heavy sacrifices endured by the naval brigade. No alarm, however, is felt as to his position, despite the evidence that the Boers intend to contest every foot of the way.

The fact that in the Gras Pan action one British battery, fired 30 rounds proves the desperate nature of the fighting and there is little doubt that the casualties were heavy.

Meanwhile the news from Natal is distinctly more hopeful from the British point of view. The details are rather vague but it seems certain that the Boers are retreating, and every communication is being reopened and that the British relief forces are pushing forward. All the taken at the Boers' arrival at Pietermaritzburg is expected to make matters move briskly very soon.

The troop ship Medic arrived at Cape Town yesterday with the Australian contingent. The Pandari and the Idaho arrived there Saturday morning. The batteries of artillery the Scotia with troops, has left Cape Town for Durban and the troop ships Albatross and Manchesterport have arrived at Durban.

BATTLE AT GRAS PAN.

London, Nov. 26 This afternoon the war office posted the following despatch, dated Cape Town, 12 20 P. M. today, from Gen. Forester-Walker.

Lord Methuen reports that he moved yesterday (Saturday) at 3 30 A. M. with the ninth brigade, the mounted corps, the naval brigade and two batteries of artillery. The baggage train followed with the baggage train. The fighting was desperate until 10 A. M. when the heights were carried. The Boers retreated on the line where the ninth brigade were placed to intercept them. The result was not known at the time of the fighting. The artillery took immediate advantage of the Boers' retreat.

Early in the action 500 Boers attacked our rear guard. The brigade met this and also protected the flank. The naval brigade acted with the greatest gallantry and suffered heavily, but not particularly are yet known.

The enemy showed the greatest stubbornness and must have suffered greatly. Twenty were buried. It is known that 31 were killed and 43 wounded. More than fifty horses were found dead in one place. One battery fired 500 rounds.

Our force must halt one day at Gras Pan to rest and replenish ammunition. The force worked splendidly and as regards the action being a difficulty. The naval brigade the Royal Marines the light infantry and the first battalion of the North Lancashire regiment especially distinguished themselves.

Regarding Thursday's fight, eighty-one Boers killed are accounted for. Sixty-four wagons were burned. A large quantity of powder 50,000 rounds of ammunition and 750 shells were blown up. Commandant Albrecht (chief of the Orange Free State artillery) commanded the Boer artillery. Gen. Bolewy was in chief command.

On the arrival of the Belmont a wounded Boer was taken to the hospital in that engagement, most of the wounded will be lodged in Beaufort hospital, where 125 beds have been prepared.

One of the Boer prisoners who was wounded in the Orange River engagement, on being asked what he thought of the British bayonet charge answered "Almighty! Do you think I waited for that?"

In consequence of the shortage in the peach crop and other light fruits Washington county blueberry pickers are realizing larger profits on their product than in previous years. "Isn't the State of Maine rather stuck on herself?" asked a traveling man. "I am continually finding the people of Maine raving over the scenery of their towns, looking at the pictures of other places in the State, and then even the views of foreign countries. Every where in Maine one finds illustrations of Maine scenery, and books filled with them. Then you meet a Maine man, woman or child and they will brag everlastingly about the State in the most approved manner. It looks to me as though the Maine people were entirely in love with themselves and their scenery, especially with the latter. Really I can't say that I blame them."

"The most uncomfortable three hours that I ever passed," remarked Manager Robinson of the Frankie Carpenter Company, which is to Bangor this week "was out in Dakota several years ago at the time of the great tornado. It approached along toward evening and we could hear it for more than two hours previous to its coming. We knew not whether it would strike, or if it would take us or not, and we sat in fear, being unable to do anything. Between the terrific roar of Mrs. Robinson and my own of the tornado, I experienced a bad three hours. It passed within several miles of us, but the force of the wind where we were was something terrible."

The post office and custom house were closed to receiving on Saturday.

and Collector A. R. Day, out of respect to the late Vice President of the United States, Garrett A. Hobart. At the second story of the building, was hung a large picture of Mr. Hobart surrounded by a large American flag, and the front of the building was festooned in white and black. The flags on the roof were at half mast, and the post office and custom house were closed during the time of the funeral.

Remarkable Growth of Classes—Bowling Tournament Ends With November.

The gymnasium classes at the Y. M. C. A. have grown remarkably, and now that the high school boys have finished their season of hard out of door work in foot ball, a new class will be started, known as the student class, to meet Monday, Wednesday and Saturday of each week from 4 to 5 o'clock P. M., beginning with the week of Dec. 4. The bowling tournament ends with November and it is very probable that many who entered will be unable to play the required number of games. The final standing of contestants will be based on the supposition that each has bowled the whole 25 games. Bacon leads by a small margin with several others close on to him. Twenty-seven different men have played and the standing of the highest ten only is given.

Games	Av. Score

Blanchard	112
Nickerson	112
Weltman	111
Stetson	110

THE STAGE.

Favorite, Frankie Carpenter Here This Week.

Prospects Are Good For a Large Business at Opera House.

Miss Fay Closes Engagement at Norumbega.

Tonight at the Opera House pretty and graceful Frankie Carpenter will appear as Meg in the successful play "Pawnee Ticket 210," made famous by Lotia, before one of the largest audiences of the season, it being the opening night of a week's engagement. The above play has been given here before by Frankie and has always proved to be a great drawing card and the sale of seats for tonight shows that it is as popular ever.

Frankie is undoubtedly one of the most popular actresses that appears in Bangor and she is supported by a much stronger company this season, which is headed by Jere Grady, a comedian who is well liked everywhere and who will get a fine reception tonight as he is a big favorite with Bangor theatre-goers.

Seats are selling rapidly for all of the performances and it looks now as though all previous records will be broken at the Opera House this week. The management advises people to secure their tickets early in order to avoid speculation, which present indications would admit of. The house will be reserved for only one matinee and that will be on Thanksgiving Day and for this occasion the sale is large. The daily matinees will commence tomorrow, when the great comedy-drama "Struck Gold" will be presented, it being one of the best pieces in the week's repertoire. Tomorrow evening the management takes great pleasure in offering to its patrons a performance of one of the most laughable farces comedies ever written "Muggs Landing," which piece only a few years ago, was given at high prices and made a fortune for the owners. Mr. Grady has secured it at large expense, knowing that his patrons enjoy a good hearty laugh and he was positive that this was bound to serve for that purpose.

The bills to be given on Wednesday are very attractive, at the matinee the great success "Light on the Point," will be given. This play offers great opportunities for the display of realistic scenery, which is carried by this company, especially for this performance. In the evening what promises to be one of the greatest pieces ever given in Bangor will appear and that will be in the title role of "Bob" another of Lotia's plays and one in which Frankie has a part perfectly suited to her dainty style of acting.

The balance of the repertoire includes several well known and successful plays.

MISS FAY A WONDER. Miss Anna Eva Fay closed a successful week's engagement at the Norumbega Saturday night where she was greeted with a packed house. Her mysterious work was unexplained ever and created a kind of surprise and when the curtain dropped for the last time and the throng passed out the words "A perfect wonder" echoed the lips of all. Many of Miss Fay's kind have visited Bangor before but it is true that her equal has never performed on a Bangor stage.

CARD OF THANKS.

The flower show has now gone into history and for some time to come people will think of it as it has been an unqualified success and Carl Beers and the Universalist church people who through the Whig to extend to one and all participants and workers and to the public generally their thanks for their able help in making the affair a success and also to the firms of Messrs. J. H. & Co., the Bangor Exchange and the Bangor Public Market Company, which sent out many of the arrangements of the show.

WENT OVER BRIDGE.

Bad Smash up at Soudabecook Stream—Horse Fatally Injured—Narrow Escape of Driver.

On Saturday night about 9 o'clock a Mr. Savage, the sole occupant of a top buggy, had a pleasant ride brought rather abruptly to an unpleasant end, at the bridge which crosses Soudabecook stream at the Hampden grist mill.

Mr. Savage was driving down the hill toward Hampden, and his horse, instead of keeping to the right in the road which crossed the bridge, turned to the left and made a bee line for the stream jumping a fence and going down a steep bank demolishing the carriage, and throwing the driver out on the bridge.

In a short time a crowd gathered and Mr. Savage was taken to the home of W. W. Emerson nearby and properly cared for. Several men then turned their attention to the horse which was growing as if in great agony. Some ropes were secured and he was pulled up over the bank and placed on a log, being unable to stand, and hauled to the stable. An examination revealed the fact that several ribs and his back were broken.

Mr. Savage was not severely injured and on Sunday was able to be removed to his boarding house at Mr. Tracy's.

THE BIG EXPENDITURE.

The sum of $4,000,000, it is estimated, will be used at Millinocket.

State Labor Commissioner S. A. Matthews is endeavoring to learn authoritatively the exact amount of money that is being laid out in Millinocket plant. The nearest estimate that he can learn is $4,000,000, and pulp and paper men of the State, as well as lumbermen, believe that this is the true amount, though some set it even higher by reckoning in the value of the lumber they must have on hand at the start.

Inquiries have been received at the State House, especially in the Secretary of State's office, regarding the situation of the "town of Millinocket." There is no town of that name but it is merely the name of the location of the great saw and paper mills in the course of construction. It is in Indian Township No. 4. But Millinocket has a justice of the peace for it was appointed only last month. Furthermore a letter directed to that address is very sure of reaching the person for whom it is intended, even though the place is located in an unorganized township.

It is said that Calais received the greatest amount of snow of any place in Maine during the recent storm. There they had over a foot of the white mantle. There is, however, enough snow in the woods to assist in the lumbering operations where there is any yarding going on. The snow is just deep enough to make a sled slip along, and a good amount of work can be done on it.

The schooner Estelle, Capt. E. G. Hutchinson, sails today for Caroon, W. I., with a general cargo, consisting of ice, lumber, spars, etc. She is consigned to Arthur Smith, who has charge of the business formerly conducted by his father, the late Burleigh Smith, who was American Consul of that port for several years. The Estelle will probably bring salt from Turks Island or Bonaire, back to the state.

Lobsters are more plentiful than they have been during the past five years. The dealers say that the United States fish commission by collecting and distributing the eggs and distributing the small fry about the coast of Maine, are responsible for the increase in the supply. The hatcheries of the commission is at Gloucester and during the past few years millions of the young lobsters have been reared to life and distributed along the coast. During the last two years 1,000,000 of the young have been freed in the waters of Maine, the best breeding grounds along the Atlantic coast.

The railroad commissioners will be busy this week, in making up the certificates that they will issue to every railroad corporation, telling of the condition of the different tracks and systems as found by the inspection of the summer. This will show the condition of the roads as the commissioners looked upon them up to November 1 and the certificates are supposed to be issued by December 1. These certificates are the best things that can be found to learn of the improvements that have been made. When the commissioners have made them all out it will be the full description of every mile of track in Maine, the condition of the bridges, the road bed, the equipment, the station houses, and the improvements that are being made or have been accomplished during the past year.

ORONO NEWS.

Miss Mildred Varnum's Saturday night dancing class is a great success. She has between thirty and forty pupils.

The interior of the Methodist church vestry has been newly painted and paneled and new stained glass windows put in which improvements add greatly to its appearance.

Tonight will occur, the first in the course of assemblies arranged by Spencer and Savous at Monitor Hall, for which Hall's orchestra will furnish music.

Mrs. Henry Peely, who has been traveling with her husband, a member of Soekleis Co. No. 4, is expected home Tuesday from Milo.

At the Epworth League meeting of the Methodist church Friday evening, a large number listened to a delightful musical program, and an interesting talk by the pastor on "From the Lumberman's Camp to the Public." During the evening candy was on sale. The whole affair was a great success, about $16 being realized.

A number of the U. of M. students were engaged last Saturday in stringing a telegraph wire between all the society houses and Oak Hall. There will be instruments in each house, so that they will be able to communicate with each other at any time, a convenience which will be greatly appreciated.

Messrs. Wornell and Webster of the A. T. O. society, have gone to Soudan lake on a scaling trip for two weeks.

The U. of M. Thanksgiving recess will be from Wednesday noon until Monday noon, which will enable a great many of the students to spend their Thanksgiving at their homes.

The A. T. O. society held an initiation Friday night at their house. They took several of the victims down town and put them through the customary ritual.

The U. of M. Glee Club will give their first concert in Orono Town Hall Saturday evening, Dec. 2. The boys are doing excellent work rehearsing under J. Parker Combs, and this club will prove, without doubt, to be the best organization the college has ever turned out, which is saying a great deal.

They start on their brookstock trip Wednesday, Dec. 13, giving nine cents in all. They intend to be in Calhoun over Sunday. The last concert will be given in Newport Friday evening, Dec. 22.

Friday morning after chapel President Harris severely chastised the sophomores in regard to some measures to which they report in their laziness. The cause of the chastisement was the manner in which they treated a freshman the Thursday evening before, their conduct being more barbarous than human.

Penobscot Pomona Meets With East Eddington Branch.

Address of Welcome by Moses F. Chick, of Clifton.

Most Interesting Subjects Were Taken Up.

The annual meeting of Penobscot Pomona was held with East Eddington grange Saturday, Nov. 25. Notwithstanding the distance and rough traveling, about 150 patrons gathered at the hall to enjoy the profitable discussions. Only two objects, lecturer and gatekeeper, were absent. Their places were filled by J. H. Collins, who acted as lecturer, and M. Lynott, as gatekeeper. At 10.30 W. M. Boyden Bearce called the meeting to order. After the opening exercises and a song by the choir the minutes of the last meeting were read and accepted. Then came the address of welcome by Moses F. Chick, Esq. of Clifton. It was ably given and was listened to throughout with interest. The full text is given herewith:

"Worthy Master, Sisters and Brothers of Penobscot Pomona Grange—On behalf of East Eddington Grange I bid you a cheerful, sincere and fraternal welcome to our grange home and to our hospitality today. Some of you have come from a long distance and your presence here is an earnest expression of your loyalty to and interest in the principles of our worthy and noble order. I assure you that the members of East Eddington grange have looked forward to this day with eager expectancy, when they should be cheered and honored by your presence and enjoy a day's fraternal and social intercourse with you. And how much that means at this closing time of the season's harvest, after months of tedious work and care, attending to our individual interests!

"Often perhaps we find time to respond to calls upon our resources without remuneration further than a consciousness that we have endeavored to do our whole duty, and live the unselfish life which our order teaches. A day's intercourse with Penobscot Pomona grange means something and is worth something, and we who share it today are under obligations to the Giver of all good.

"There is nothing in this life save the spirit and grace of the Great Master of the universe, that thrills the soul and warms the heart like the spirit of fraternity and good fellowship of men to men. While it is true that we live in a world filled with blessings and are constantly under the kind care of a beneficent Master who showers upon us the good things of life, far above our merit, and, too, without respect to person, the rain falls alike upon the just and the unjust.

"It is also true that we live in a world more or less filled with strife and conflict. In some cases the conflict may be with worthy ends in view and tend to the good of all concerned; but alas! too often is the case that we have to enter into strife where greed and selfish motives bring on the contention. Happy is he who strives to breathe the tide of pure motives and a due regard to the rights of his brother man.

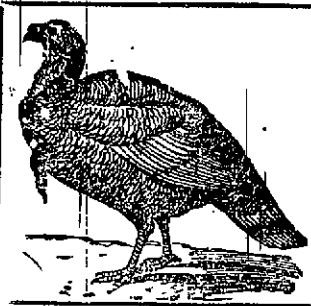

"Not only are we as individuals subject to these stern and unwelcome experiences, but sects and organizations have their times of trial and adversity and even great nations are often engaged in strife with other nations. The world, as we witness today in the conflict in which our own beloved nation is engaged. While we may not discuss the righteousness of the cause here, we can pity our boys enduring the terrible hardships in the far away land, and sympathize with the mothers whose loved sons will never return. Brother and sister patrons, selfishness is no part of our creed, and we can look with tender pity upon the sufferings of the brave men on both sides who are engaged in so deadly a conflict in far away Africa.

"Brothers and sisters, the precepts and teachings of our order do not lead to these things, but rather to peace and good will toward all men. While it may not be in our province or within our influence to change these things of large concern which invoke the whole power of nations, we have as good patrons by carrying out in our lives individually and collectively the underlying principles of our order, an opportunity to do much toward lessening the strife and making lighter the burden of our brother man. The man or woman who lives in selfish disregard of the happiness and well being of his neighbor lives to poor purpose. We read in an old but good Book, this admonition, 'Bear one another's burdens and so fulfill the law of Christ.'

"Happy are we today in the thought that the teachings of our order are in accord with the teachings of Him of whom it is written, 'Never man spake like this man.' While we are banded together for mutual help and a better social intercourse, we do not hold ourselves aloof from humanity anywhere, and thrice glad would we be if every darkened home in the land could be lighted up and every despondent heart cheered and blessed with pure motives and a higher ideal of manhood and womanhood, which must be the fruit and outgrowth of the influence springing from the teachings of the precepts on which our order is founded.

"Worthy master and patrons, again permit me to bid you a cordial welcome to East Eddington, which belongs to Penobscot Pomona today. We hope every one of you will find your visit pleasant, that no accident will befall you on your return to your several homes. As the days come and go, may your faith in the Great Master never waver, nor your hope grow less assuring, as He who owns 'the cattle on a thousand hills,' blesses you with the good things of life, Macken, not your charity, and when the final summons shall come may it close a life of nobility and usefulness. Thank you very much for your presence here today.

today my mind is carried back to old times as I think of those who have passed away, a speech is impossible. I rejoice to be here and meet the old friends again. I am glad I am a granger. My mother, a widow, married a farmer and moved to this neighborhood when I was a boy. I attended school and I remember as my mind expanded I wanted to get away from here, to get out in the world and see what was going on.

"My mind expanded and my body expanded to such an extent that I left and only returned today in the contracted form you see, but I am one with you and one of you, and although I have been two days getting here, I am glad I came."

W. C. Chas. E. Dole being called upon said:

"I don't see how I can say anything after the eloquence we have just heard. You all know I am not capable of saying a great deal without previous thought and then my words seem poor and unsatisfactory to me. We all ought to be able to speak for the Grange, for the Order of Patrons of Husbandry. I enjoy these meetings always. I enjoy the lightness and mirth and also the solid food."

"Life should not be made a drudgery, but variety should end a charm to it. 'All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy.' We succeed in dividing our grange work, so as to get some of the enjoyments of social intercourse; our life is thus made better and we can handle the hard knotty problems, and we all have some to solve, with greater ease. I enjoy Pomona and am never sorry to go even when inconveniently thereby. I enjoy the subordinate Grange too; it is a school from which all its members derive benefit. It makes better neighbors, better friends; it teaches us to respect the rights of others. Good speed the work. May it go on, accomplishing as much in the future as it has in the past, until it reaches the top of the ladder. It has already proved a greater blessing than I expected it would in the beginning."

W. M. Bearce then appointed as committee on program: J. H. Collins, Esq., East Eddington; R. L. Copeland, Houlton; Mrs. Emma Blackman, Eddington; Mrs. Belle Warren, Eddington; and Mrs. Mary Alken, Brewer.

J. H. Collins, in a few remarks, recommended that the annual meeting be held in Bangor in a public hall instead of with some particular Grange. A committee consisting of Fred C. Low, J. H. Collins and L. A. Fletcher were appointed to consider the matter and report at the next meeting. The work of the forenoon being completed the Master declared a recess and all marched down to the bountiful repast.
